

ARKANSAS BLACK HISTORY

Courtesy of Keith Allison

Derek Lamar Fisher (1974 -) was born in Little Rock. Derek is one of the most successful basketball players to hail from Arkansas. After an exemplary high school and college career in Little Rock, he won five championships as a member of the Los Angeles Lakers in the National Basketball Association (NBA). He also set an NBA record for participation in the most playoff games at 259. The Fishers lived on West 22nd Street in Little Rock. Derek attended Wilson Elementary School, Henderson Junior High School, and Parkview Arts and Science Magnet High School. To find out more about Derek Lamar Fisher visit the Mosaic Templars Cultural Center.

ARKANSAS
HERITAGE