MRA	No.	11	1

INDIVIDUAL DATA SHEET

Property Name German Builder's House Property Owner Irene Ware Location 315 E. Central, Siloam Springs Address Rt. 1 Construction Date c. 1880 Survey No 2470 Siloam Springs, AR 7276 DESCRIPTION The German Builder's House is a brick I-house with an early rear-T frame addition. is distinguished by an abundance of Victorian detail, including turned posts and spindle-work entablature on the single-story front porch, fan-pattern and imbricate shingle gable ornamentation, and segmental arch windows. A central entrance with a single window in each bay characterizes the lower level, with three windows echoing this aperature arrangement on the upper story. A small centered shingled gable piercing the roofline completes the facade. The rear T is distinguished by a two-s rectangular bay window and shingled gables.
DESCRIPTION The German Builder's House is a brick I-house with an early rear-T frame addition. is distinguished by an abundance of Victorian detail, including turned posts and spindle-work entablature on the single-story front porch, fan-pattern and imbricate shingle gable ornamentation, and segmental arch windows. A central entrance with a single window in each bay characterizes the lower level, with three windows echoing this aperature arrangement on the upper story. A small centered shingled gable piercing the roofline completes the facade. The rear T is distinguished by a two-s
The German Builder's House is a brick I-house with an early rear-T frame addition. is distinguished by an abundance of Victorian detail, including turned posts and spindle-work entablature on the single-story front porch, fan-pattern and imbricate shingle gable ornamentation, and segmental arch windows. A central entrance with a single window in each bay characterizes the lower level, with three windows echoing this aperature arrangement on the upper story. A small centered shingled gable piercing the roofline completes the facade. The rear T is distinguished by a two-s
The German Builder's House is a brick I-house with an early rear-T frame addition. is distinguished by an abundance of Victorian detail, including turned posts and spindle-work entablature on the single-story front porch, fan-pattern and imbricate shingle gable ornamentation, and segmental arch windows. A central entrance with a single window in each bay characterizes the lower level, with three windows echoing this aperature arrangement on the upper story. A small centered shingled gable piercing the roofline completes the facade. The rear T is distinguished by a two-s
The German Builder's House is a brick I-house with an early rear-T frame addition. is distinguished by an abundance of Victorian detail, including turned posts and spindle-work entablature on the single-story front porch, fan-pattern and imbricate shingle gable ornamentation, and segmental arch windows. A central entrance with a single window in each bay characterizes the lower level, with three windows echoing this aperature arrangement on the upper story. A small centered shingled gable piercing the roofline completes the facade. The rear T is distinguished by a two-s is distinguished by an abundance of Victorian detail, including turned posts and spindle-work entablature on the single-story front porch, fan-pattern and imbricate shingle gable ornamentation, and segmental arch windows. A central entrance with a single window in each bay characterizes the lower level, with three windows echoing this aperature arrangement on the upper story. A small centered shingled gable piercing the roofline completes the facade. The rear T is distinguished by a two-s
STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE
Criterion: C Area of significance: Architecture
Constructed by German builders from St. Louis who were working on a nearby school, property is significant as one of the county's finest examples of a brick I-house, an abundance of ornamental detail which enhances its architectural presence. Few structures survive in Siloam Springs from this period, and none exhibit all the architectural elements evident in the German Builder's House.
Acreage less than 1 acre
Verbal Boundary Description Lot 2, Block 25, Original Town
Quadrangle Name Siloam Springs, ArkOkla. Quadrangle Scale 1:24000
UTM Reference: Zone 15 Easting 361620 Northing 4005410

