Description (Continued - Page 2)

Another new window has been added between the breakfast room and the sun porch at the rear of the house. This affords a pleasing view of the rear gardens and pastureland from the breakfast table.

The entrance portico was missing for a number of years and the present one is a reconstruction. Slender wood columns have been made to match columns supporting the porch at the rear of the parlors. The floor of the portico is of brick. The narrow white fascia of the portico roof, as well as the fascia of the main roof, are without ornamentation.

Always used as a farm house, the Lake-Bell House has had the typical variety of out-buildings through the years. A barn built at the same time as the house still stands, though it has been altered extensively. The original well is still extant, though the well house has long since been removed.

7. Description (Lake-Shores-Bell House - Page 3)

The Lake-Shores Bell House has been changed very little during its one hundred year existence. The basic ell-shape floor plan has been altered only by the 1952 addition of a glass walled porch on the west leg of the ell. In that same year the open porch in the elbow of the ell was enclosed using brick from the milk house.

One interior wall was moved in 1932 when Mr. and Mrs. Shores moved into the house. The east wall of the pantry (see diagram) was moved four feet further east, making the area large enough for a breakfast room. Because the house had been badly misused for a number of years, most of the original flooring had to be replaced when the house was made habitable in 1932. However, the original flooring remains in the entry hall and the north parlor. The original brick floor of the kitchen lies three feet below the present floor which was raised to the level of the rest of the house.

The Lake-Shores-Bell House is in excellent condition due to the efforts of the present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Bunn Bell. When Mrs. Bell's parents bought the property in 1932, the Bell's supervised the restoration. Since 1952, Mr. and Mrs. Bell have resided in the house. Situated just west of the Prairie Grove Battlefield Park, the Lake-Shores-Bell House is enhanced by its pastoral setting.

Modernization of the house by Mr. and Mrs. Bell began in 1952, and has been painstaking and meticulous. They have attempted to change as little as possible of the original fabric of the building while incorporating into the house the comforts and conveniences of contemporary life. In this respect the house can be regarded as a model of adaptive preservation.
